Dude! Where's My Profit? A workshop, where you can build a rock solid understanding of accounting – even though you may have tried to understand it in the past with little success. How important would it be to your business if you could build a solid understanding of your finances in a few hours, guaranteed?

No prior knowledge of accounting is assumed in this workshop.

What you will learn:

To construct the big picture of accounting

To record transactions of increasing complexity

To trace transactions through your accounting system and create financial statements, income statements and balance sheets.

To understand what financial statements really mean to the business owner

To visually introduce important accounting terms for easy understanding

To find out more, please visit Dr. Pedersen's web site, www.dudewheresmyprofit.com for further details including a series of videos that support this workshop.
